Yorkshire Common Permit Scheme: Advice Note No. Eleven

Document Name:	Compliance Inspections	Document No: YPAN/011
Date Issued:	4 July 2012

Background:

Compliance checks will need to be undertaken by permit authorities on works which are in progress to ensure that they comply with the conditions attached to the granted permit or, in the case of immediate works, that standard conditions are adhered to for the period of time prior to a permit being granted.

Advice:

If a representative of the Permit Authority visits site to undertake a permit compliance check and the site fails to comply with the conditions of the permit, the contractors on site should be informed immediately.

All passed and failed permit compliance checks should be recorded and transmitted electronically via the EToN system as a routine inspection. However, the inspection text should start with the letters "PCC" to clearly define it is a permit compliance check for the works promoter.

If the inspection fails due to a non-compliance that would also result in a fail under a Category A inspection then this will be reported via the usual method for reporting a Category A defect. Promoters should then arrange for the non-compliance to be rectified within the standard response times, i.e. within 2 hours for high risk inadequacies or within 4 hours for low risk inadequacies.

However, if the inspection fails for a non-compliance with a permit condition only then this will be telephoned to a number specified by the promoter (see table in Appendix A). The promoter will then need to rectify the non-compliance by 10:00 am the next day, unless the non-compliance has been categorised by the Permit Authority as urgent and a timescale will be agreed with the promoter.
