2 RECOMMENDATION

	Mitigation measures / design considerations	Score
a) Development of the site would have minimal detrimental local ecological impact.	The mature oak on the site's northern boundary should be retained within the scope of any future development of this site. The hawthorn hedgerow on the south-eastern boundary should be retained if possible.	1
b) Development of the site would result in some adverse local ecological impact but there is scope for mitigation.
c) Development of the site for housing would result in detrimental ecological impacts.

4 FURTHER INFORMATION

Brief Site Description

An improved, tussocky grassland, with abundant scrub and evidence of recent scrub control. The grassland is dominant by rank grasses such as False Oat-grass with numerous tall ruderal forbs.

The site is bordered by outgrown, gappy hedges dominated by Hawthorn and young, scrubby woodland dominated by Silver Birch (Betula pendula) and Willow species.

The Hawthorn-dominated hedge on the southern side of the site is mostly intact, although it has grown-out to a large extent and is species-poor.

A well-grown Pendunculate Oak (Quercus robur) is present on the northern edge of the site, although the potential for bats in this tree is low, given the absence of broken branches or holes for roosting. The site may provide foraging for reptiles, and the wall and piles of scrub may provide hibernacula.

Additional comments / information

The habitats present on site are of some value to wildlife, however they are largely of a type which form wherever land is left unmanaged and are therefore not a priority for conservation as long as other, similar areas exist in the vicinity.

With reference to the data search, no significant issues for protected or priority species have arisen for this site.

Site Description

An improved, tussocky grassland, with abundant scrub and evidence of recent scrub control. The grassland is dominant by rank grasses such as False Oat-grass (Arrhenatherum elatius), with numerous tall ruderal forbs such as Creeping Thistle (Cirsium arvense), Hogweed (Heracleum sphondylium) and Rosebay Willowherb (Chamerion angustifolium). The site is bordered by outgrown, gappy hedges dominated by Hawthorn (Crataegus monogyna) and young, scrubby woodland dominated by Silver Birch (Betula pendula) and Willow species (Salix spp.) The south-western boundary also contains a wall supporting a bank that is overgrown with Bramble (Rubus fruticosus agg.) and Hawthorn scrub. The Hawthorn-dominated hedge on the southern side of the site is mostly intact, although it has grown-out to a large extent and is species-poor. The hedge field layers consist of the common, tall ruderal species that are also abundant in the grassland.

A well-grown Pendunculate Oak (Quercus robur) is present on the northern edge of the site, although the potential for bats in this tree is low, given the absence of broken branches or holes for roosting. The site may provide foraging for reptiles, and the wall and piles of scrub may provide hibernacula.

Habitat Target Notes

TN1 An overgrown, species-poor, but relatively intact hedge. The woody component consists of Crataegus monogyna [D], Ilex sempervirens [O], Prunus spinosa [O] and Prunus cf. avium [R]. The field layer contains Rubus fruticosus agg. [F], Anthriscus sylvestris [O], Urtica dioica [F], Poa pratensis [O], Dactylis glomerata [O], Stachys sylvatica [R], and Heracleum sphondylium [O].

TN2 A defunct, gappy, species-poor hedge, dominated by Crataegus monogyna. Herbs included Lamium album [R], Dactylis glomerata [O], and Urtica dioica [F].

TN3 Improved grassland (previously arable), with large amounts of invading scrub, trees, litter, and piles of cut scrub. The woody element consisted mainly of Betula pendula [A], Salix spp. [O], and Fraxinus excelsior [R]. The field layer contained herbs typical of nutrient enriched grassland, including Urtica dioica [O], Epilobium spp. [O], Heracleum sphondylium [O], Chamerion angustifolium [F], Senecio jacobea [O], Dactylis glomerata [O], Arrhenatherum elatius [A], Taraxacum officinale agg. [O], Poa pratensis [O], Cirsium arvense [O], Anthriscus sylvestris [O], and areas of relic arable plantings containing wheat (Triticum aestivum [LF]).
