We have 694 entries on the 2015 Heritage at Risk Register for Yorkshire, making up 12.7% of the national total of 5,478 entries. The Register provides an annual snapshot of historic sites known to be at risk from neglect, decay or inappropriate development. Nationally, there are more barrows on the Register than any other type of site. The main risk to their survival is ploughing. The good news is that since 2014 we have reduced the number of barrows at risk by over 130, by working with owners and, in particular, Natural England to improve their management. This picture is repeated in Yorkshire, where the greatest concentration of barrows at risk is in the rich farmland of the Wolds. Our local team, led by Tammy Whitaker, continues to work there and across the region with owners, funders and other stakeholders to find the right solutions for sites on the Register.

Trevor Mitchell
Planning Director, Yorkshire

Over the last five years we've removed over 43% of the original entries on the Yorkshire Register. Indeed 25% of sites removed from the Register nationally are in Yorkshire. Over the past year alone we removed 118 sites. We're making great progress but there is still a lot to do.

The Ancient Landscapes of the Wolds and Moors
Over two thirds of the sites we've tackled this year are prehistoric barrows and earthworks. These made up 40% of our Register. Next year we hope to make further progress on these ancient features, working with Natural England to promote the new Countryside Stewardship scheme and the opportunities it brings. Other successes include the repair of two imposing castles at Ayton and Wressle.

South Yorkshire Metal Trades
Working alongside Sheffield City Council and others we've made great progress on sites associated with the metal trades. This year will see repairs begin at Green Lane Works, an imposing landmark in Kelham Island Conservation Area.

Textile Mills of the West Riding
We continue to seek viable new uses for many sites associated with the textile industry. We are focusing on three iconic sites in Leeds, Temple Mill, Hunslet Mill and the First White Cloth Hall. These long-neglected buildings need urgent action or they could be lost.

Designed Landscapes of South Yorkshire
The beautiful urban parks, historic gardens and parkland of South Yorkshire are little known beyond the local area. We’re working with local partners to develop their potential. Amid the peace and tranquillity of Sheffield General Cemetery sits the Non-Conformist Chapel. We have provided advice and grants to the Council and local groups. At long last the Chapel is now repaired and will open as an arts venue in the New Year. There is still much more to do in this Grade II* listed landscape. Next year we will work with the Trust and City Council on ambitious plans for the future of the cemetery as a whole.

The project was part of a Townscape Heritage Initiative funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund and Rotherham Borough Council. Hidden behind a modern shopfront for decades was Rotherham’s last known surviving medieval timber-framed town house. The Grade II* listed building had been on the Heritage at Risk Register since 1999. Historic England provided expert planning and repairs advice.

Plumpton Rocks

Plumpton, Harrogate, North Yorkshire

Background and history
Plumpton Rocks has been called “the epitome of the picturesque garden”. Reportedly praised by Queen Mary as “the nearest place on earth to heaven” it was also the subject of JMW Turner’s first commission in oils. The two views of the lake and rocks he painted in 1798 still hang in Harewood House. With such endorsements and historical associations it is easy to see why this Grade II* registered historic park and garden will be one of Historic England’s priorities for the year ahead.

Is it at risk?
The gardens are centred on natural rock formations and an artificial lake with winding paths. They originally featured a collection of trees and flowering shrubs, some of which survive. However, progressive silting of the lake, encroaching self-set trees and spread of invasive Rhododendron ponticum has led to a gradual loss of designed views. Plumpton Rocks was added to the Heritage at Risk Register in 2012.

What’s the current situation?
Work is now well underway to secure the future of the gardens. A Higher Level Stewardship (HLS) agreement from Natural England has provided much needed funding. Work has begun on new tree planting, scrub clearance and opening up of key views. Over the course of the next year work will be undertaken on de-silting the lake and repairing the Grade II* listed dam wall designed by John Carr of York. Historic England is working closely with the owner, Natural England and other stakeholders to ensure the project’s success.
Wressle Castle

Wressle, East Riding of Yorkshire

Background and history
The castle was built for Thomas Percy, Earl of Worcester, around 1380-90. Unfortunately he had little chance to enjoy his new home. His uncle, the Earl of Northumberland, led a revolt against King Henry IV. Sir Thomas was taken prisoner at the Battle of Shrewsbury in 1403 and afterwards beheaded for treason. The majority of the castle was destroyed during the Civil War. However, it continued in use as a manor for nearly 150 years. In 1796 a fire burnt out the remaining part. Sadly the fine plasterwork interiors were lost. Today, about a quarter of the original castle remains above ground.

£500,000 of repairs by Historic England, Natural England and The Country Houses Foundation, the castle was removed from the Register this year.

Wressle Castle has been on the Heritage at Risk Register since 1999. Following close work with the owners and

Historic England Angel Awards
The Historic England Angel Awards were founded in 2011, co-funded by the Andrew Lloyd Webber Foundation. They celebrate local people’s extraordinary efforts to save historic buildings and places. Over the past five years, the Angel Awards have showcased inspirational friends groups, communities, worshippers, owners and craftspeople.

From 2016, we’ll be looking for projects that champion the historic environment in many ways. These could include:

- community action projects
- heritage research, survey or education projects
- heritage professionals
- lifetime achievements
- and of course, rescues of heritage sites

Shortlisted Angels will continue to be put to the vote in the ever-popular People’s Favourite Award.

DESIGNATION

Definition
All the historic environment matters but there are some elements which warrant extra protection through the planning system. These are included in the National Heritage List for England (NHLE), an online searchable database of designated assets. Since 1882, when the first Act protecting ancient monuments and archaeological remains was passed, government has been developing the designation system. Listing, which is applied to buildings, emerged from the post-Blitz 1940s Planning Acts. There are now nearly 400,000 designated assets on the NHLE including listed buildings, scheduled monuments, registered parks and gardens, registered battlefields and protected wreck sites.

Historic England, as the government’s expert adviser, is responsible for making recommendations – but it is still the Secretary of State at the Department for Culture Media and Sport who makes the decisions on whether an asset is designated. Understanding and appreciation develop constantly, which makes keeping the designation base up-to-date a never-ending challenge.

While still responding to threat-driven cases, our approach is now more strategic, based around thematic and area-based projects. Recent developments have seen a greater striving for openness and transparency in the process of designating a site, and better communication of what makes something special.

Alongside the nationally designated assets found on the National Heritage List for England are locally designated assets. Best known are conservation areas, but local authorities can also create lists of locally valued assets. Most archaeological sites of significance are not scheduled, but rely on local identification and management for their protection.

LISTED BUILDINGS

Listing is by far the most commonly encountered type of designation. A listed building (or structure) is one that has been designated as being of special architectural or historic interest. The older and rarer a building is, the more likely it is to be listed. Buildings less than 30 years old are listed only if they are of very high quality and under threat. Listing is mandatory: if special interest is believed to be present, then the Department for Culture Media and Sport has a duty to add the building to the List.

Listed buildings are graded I, II* and II. Grade I buildings are of outstanding interest, and II* are particularly important buildings of more than special interest; together they amount to 8% of all listed buildings. The remaining 92% are of special interest and are listed grade II.

There are over 376,000 listed entries on the NHLE of buildings of special architectural or historic interest. Entries on the statutory list sometimes group together a number of separate buildings: a terrace will be counted as one entry, rather than as separate units. Entries on this Register reflect how buildings are grouped and recorded on the statutory list.

Structures can occasionally be dual designated (both listed as buildings and scheduled as monuments). In such cases, scheduling controls take precedence.

SCHEDULED MONUMENTS

Scheduled monuments include single archaeological sites and complex archaeological landscapes. 19,850 examples have been designated because of their national importance. Scheduled monuments are not graded. They cover human activity from the prehistoric era, such as burial mounds, to 20th century military and industrial remains. For the millennia before written history, archaeology is the only testament to innumerable generations of people of whom there is no other record.

The later 20th century saw unprecedented changes to the landscape. As a result, some types of historic site that once were commonplace began to become rare. Those that survive often represent just small islands of what once characterised broad sweeps of our towns and countryside. Although protected by law, scheduled monuments are still at risk from a wide range of processes and intense pressures outside of the planning system. These include damage from cultivation, forestry and — often most seriously of all — wholly natural processes such as scrub growth, animal burrowing and coastal erosion. Scheduling is discretionary, and many archaeological sites of potential importance are not designated. Instead, they are managed through the planning system and other regimes.

REGISTERED PARKS AND GARDENS

There are 1,635 designed landscapes on the current Historic England Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest. These registered landscapes are graded I, II* or II, and include private gardens, public parks and cemeteries, rural parkland and other green spaces. They are valued for their design and cultural importance, and are distinct from natural heritage designations.

Inclusion on the Historic England Register of Historic Parks and Gardens brings no statutory controls, but there is a clear presumption in favour of upholding their significance in government planning guidance, so they do gain protection. Local authorities are required to consult Historic England on applications affecting sites registered as grade I or II*, and the Gardens Trust on sites of all grades. The setting of other designated heritage assets can also protect registered landscapes.

REGISTERED BATTLEFIELDS

Historic England’s Register of Historic Battlefields was set up in 1995, and is our youngest category of designation. Its aim is to protect and promote those sites where history was made through military engagement which can be securely identified on the ground. They range from the Battle of Maldon (991) to Sedgemoor (1685); almost half date from the period of the civil wars in the mid-17th century. These special places, where thousands were often killed, deserve our recognition and respect. Recently, additions have been made to the Register of Historic Battlefields for the first time since its creation. There are now 46 registered battlefields.

Protection is needed to prevent encroachment through inappropriate development, or insensitive (and damaging) metal detecting, which can permanently alter the archaeological record. As with registered parks and gardens, there is a clear presumption in favour of protecting registered battlefields in government planning policy.

PROTECTED WRECK SITES

England’s 49 protected wreck sites represent a tiny proportion of the 33,000 or so pre-1945 wrecks and recorded casualties that are known to lie in the territorial waters. Wreck sites can be of importance for different reasons: the distinctive design or construction of a ship, the story it can tell about its past, its association with notable people or events and its cargo. The Protection of Wrecks Act 1973 empowers the appropriate Secretary of State to designate a restricted area around a vessel to protect it or its contents from unauthorised interference, and Historic England administers the attendant licensing scheme for divers seeking access.

CONSERVATION AREAS

Conservation areas are designated by local authorities and are areas of particular architectural or historic interest, the character or appearance of which it is desirable to preserve or enhance. For almost 50 years, ever since the 1967 Civic Amenities Act, conservation areas have proved a highly effective mechanism for managing change on an area-wide basis. There are currently 9,853 conservation areas in England including town and city centres, suburbs, industrial areas, rural landscapes, cemeteries and residential areas. They form the historic backcloth to national and local life and are a crucial component of local identity.
Criteria for inclusion on the Register

RISK ASSESSMENTS
Heritage assets included on the Register are risk assessed according to the nature of the site rather than the type of designation. Building or structure assessments are used for secular listed buildings and structural scheduled monuments, typically masonry remains. Archaeology assessments are used for scheduled earthworks and below-ground remains. Thus a scheduled monument may appear on the Register in either or both the building and structure and the archaeology sections depending upon what puts it at risk. Listed buildings that are in use as places of worship are assessed using the places of worship assessment. Registered parks and gardens, conservation areas, battlefields and protected wreck sites have their own assessments because they each have their own particular characteristics and factors that may put them at risk.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES
To be considered for inclusion on the Register, buildings or structures must be:
- designated and included on the National Heritage List for England
- a grade I or II* listed building
- a grade II listed building in London
- a structural scheduled monument with upstanding remains
- in secular (non-worship) use

Buildings or structures are assessed on the basis of condition and, where applicable, occupancy (or use) reflecting the fact that a building which is occupied is generally less vulnerable than one that is not.

Occupancy (or use) is assessed as ‘vacant’, ‘part occupied’, ‘occupied’, ‘not applicable’, or occasionally, ‘unknown’. Many structures fall into the ‘not applicable’ category for example: ruins, walls, gates, headstones or boundary stones.

Condition is assessed as ‘very bad’, ‘poor’, ‘fair’ or ‘good’. The condition of buildings or structures on the Register is typically very bad or poor, but can be fair or, very occasionally, good. This reflects the fact that some buildings or structures are vulnerable because they are empty, underused or face redundancy without a new use to secure their future. Assessing vulnerability in the case of buildings in fair condition necessarily involves judgement and discretion. A few buildings remain on the Register in good condition, having been repaired or mothballed, but still awaiting a new use or occupancy.

Buildings or structures are removed from the Register when they are fully repaired/consolidated, and their future secured either through occupation and use, or through the adoption of appropriate management.

PLACES OF WORSHIP
To be considered for inclusion on the Register places of worship must be designated and listed grade I, II* or II on the National Heritage List for England, and be used as a public place of worship at least six times a year.

Places of worship are assessed on the basis of condition only. If a place of worship is in very bad or poor condition it is added to the Register. This includes places of worship which are generally in fair or good condition but have major problems with one key element, like the tower.

Historic England has visited and assessed listed places of worship considered to be in poor or very bad condition according to local assessments. Those that are identified as at risk are included on the Register.

Once on the Register, places of worship can move through the condition categories (e.g. from very bad to poor; to fair; even good) as repairs are implemented and the condition improves, until they are fully repaired and can be removed from the Register. This means that there are some places of worship in good condition on the Register but with outstanding issues still to be resolved at the time when they were assessed.

ARCHAEOLOGY
To be considered for inclusion on the Register archaeological sites must be designated as scheduled monuments and included on the National Heritage List for England. Archaeology assessments cover scheduled earthworks and buried archaeology. The risk assessment is based on their condition and vulnerability, the trend in their condition, and their likely future vulnerability. A site’s condition is expressed in terms of the scale and severity of adverse effects on it ranging from ‘extensive significant problems’, to ‘minor localised problems’.

Archaeological entries are removed from the Register once sufficient progress has been made to address the identified issues, and a significant reduction in the level of risk has been demonstrated.
PARKS AND GARDENS
To be considered for inclusion on the Register parks and gardens must be designated as grade I, II* or grade II and included on the National Heritage List for England. Parks and gardens are assessed in terms of condition and vulnerability. Steps being taken by owners to address problems are also taken into consideration.

Parks and gardens assessed as being at risk are typically affected by development and neglect. They have frequently been altered by development or are faced with major change. The original function of these landscapes has often changed and divided ownership leads to the loss of their cohesive historic design.

Park and garden entries are removed from the Register once steps have been taken to address issues and positive progress is being made.

BATTLEFIELDS
To be considered for inclusion on the Register battlefields must be designated and included on the National Heritage List for England. Battlefields deemed to be at risk of loss of cultural significance are included on the Register.

The principal risks and threats are:
• development pressure e.g. encroachment of buildings
• pressures of particular use within the site e.g. arable cultivation
• damage e.g. unregulated metal detecting

Battlefields are removed from the Register either when damaging activities cease, are managed, or when threats recede due to effective planning.

WRECK SITES
To be considered for inclusion on the Register wrecks must be designated and included on the National Heritage List for England. Wreck sites are assessed based on their current condition, vulnerability and the way they are being managed.

Wrecks are vulnerable to both environmental and human impacts. Risks that contribute to inclusion on the Register range from unauthorised access to erosion and fishing damage.

The monitoring process ensures that the significance of the site is identified and maintained. In spite of the inherent difficulties in caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained.

Wrecks are removed from the Register once an appropriate management and monitoring regime is operational.

CONSERVATION AREAS
Historic England has asked every local authority in England to complete (and update as appropriate) a survey of its conservation areas, highlighting current condition, threats and trends. Conservation areas that are deteriorating, or are in very bad or poor condition and not expected to change significantly in the next three years, are defined as being at risk.

The approach taken to assess conservation areas at risk has been refined since the first survey in 2008/2009. The information provides a detailed assessment of each conservation area. An overall category for condition, vulnerability and trend is included for each conservation area on this Register.

Conservation areas identified as at risk in 2009, but not reassessed since using the revised methodology, are included on the Register but with limited information.

Conservation areas are removed from the Register once plans have been put in place to address the issues that led to the conservation area being at risk, and once positive progress is being made.
Reducing the risks

One of the primary aims of the Historic England Corporate Plan 2015-2018 is reducing the risk to heritage assets. In order to achieve this aim we are working to:

- better understand the nature and extent of risk
- encourage others to save and re-use heritage at risk
- build the capacity of the sector to deliver solutions for heritage at risk
- provide advice and grants to help remove heritage from the Register

Dedicated Heritage at Risk teams in our nine regional offices are tasked with achieving this aim.

Whilst each type of heritage asset and individual site will require its own approach and solution, there are some general approaches that are relevant to all ‘at risk’ assets. Finding solutions for heritage at risk requires working in close partnership with owners, local planning authorities and a wide variety of other organisations. The provision of clear advice is essential to further understanding of heritage at risk.

Maintenance and occupation or use (where appropriate) are essential in preventing heritage from becoming at risk. Maintenance of assets already at risk can prevent them from decaying further. Without maintenance, the cost of repair and consolidation escalates, the challenge for owners and occupiers increases, and the scope for affordable solutions declines.

The Heritage at Risk Register helps us understand what factors lead to heritage assets becoming at risk, what action is most likely to influence their condition and where resources can be focused to best effect. Historic Environment Records and local heritage at risk registers, maintained by local authorities, are additional repositories of information on local historic assets. They underpin the work of local authority historic environment services and can help improve the protection, conservation and management of heritage assets.

Historic England provides a wide range of published guidance on reducing the risks, including: finding partners, funding, new uses for heritage assets, and enforcing urgent works and repairs. These are available to download from our website, www.historicengland.org.uk. Key publications and guidance are listed on pages XV-XVI.

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

Our nine regional teams can help existing and potential owners, developers and local authorities with the assessment of risk and the identification of appropriate programmes of repair. They can advise on the benefits of additional survey and assessment, help with feasibility studies and with brokering solutions. In particularly difficult cases, they can draw on the additional expertise of our national advisers specialising in structural engineering, quantity surveying, development economics, enforcement and planning law. Historic England can help with access to funding as we work closely with grant providers including the Heritage Lottery Fund and Natural England. We have two principal grant streams ourselves: Repair Grants for Heritage at Risk for all asset types and Section 17 Management Agreements which are smaller grants for scheduled monuments. More information on funding can be found on the Historic England website.

We know how useful our own Register is in managing risk, prioritising action and engaging partners. We are therefore working with Civic Voice and voluntary groups to enable the compilation of local heritage at risk registers. We are also working with local authorities to encourage them to develop strategies for tackling buildings in poor condition. These strategies should include the use of enforcement powers; ‘Stopping the Rot’ is our published guidance on this. Our Heritage at Risk Solicitor can provide training and support for local authorities considering enforcement action. In certain circumstances we can also provide grant aid to underwrite the cost of serving Urgent Works and Repairs Notices.

Building preservation trusts (BPTs) offer a tried and tested way of saving buildings at risk. We have close links with the Architectural Heritage Fund and fund their regional support officers to work across the country. They help BPTs and other not-for-profit organisations to access funding, carry out feasibility studies and develop solutions for buildings at risk. The United Kingdom Association of Preservation Trusts also provides information about support officers and BPTs. Guidance and case studies are available on the Historic England website.

PLACES OF WORSHIP

Regular maintenance helps to keep all buildings in good condition but those suffering major problems need repairs to minimise the risks to both the structure and the contents. Keeping drains and gutters clear so that water is taken away from the building efficiently is the most important thing congregations can do as this stops small problems developing into unnecessary crises. The overflowing gutter soon soaks the wall beneath, rots the roof timbers behind it and makes the whole building vulnerable.

In some areas congregations group together to engage reputable contractors at competitive rates to clear gutters and rainwater goods. Such cooperation enables them to get good quality work carried out at reasonable prices by firms that understand historic... buildings. The Maintenance Cooperatives project run by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings will further help to connect, inform and empower those people who look after places of worship.

The Heritage Lottery Fund runs the Grants for Places of Worship scheme. The main focus of the scheme is fabric repairs but it also provides funds for modest changes to enhance community use of the building. Historic England’s architects and surveyors, based in our regional Heritage at Risk teams, provide technical advice to the Heritage Lottery Fund on fabric repairs to ensure appropriate conservation standards are met.

The Government’s Listed Places of Worship scheme, enabling the reclaiming of VAT on eligible repairs, maintenance and authorised alterations, is available to all listed places of worship, whether they have obtained grants or are funding work themselves. Local and national charities also offer grants. The Government’s Listed Places of Worship Roof Repair Fund offers grants to help make listed places of worship weather-tight, safe and open for use.

Historic England supports congregations wanting to keep their places of worship in use and recognises the need for appropriate new facilities such as kitchens and toilets that are sensitive to the building’s special character. New Work in Historic Places of Worship helps congregations understand how changes can be achieved.

A network of support officers, employed locally but part funded by Historic England, offers direct advice and encouragement to congregations. Projects to effect repairs and develop necessary new facilities for both the community and visitors are breathing a new lease of life into these treasured parts of our heritage.

ARCHAEOLOGY

The excellent progress which is being made with reducing the number of scheduled monuments on the Register continues to demonstrate the value which owners and land managers are placing upon the positive management of archaeological sites.

The large majority of the 19,832 scheduled monuments in England are on land classified as agricultural. Effective information sharing with Natural England and Defra is therefore of great importance for prioritising management action and for targeting agri-environment grant schemes to best effect. This is especially important under the New Environmental Land Management Scheme (NELMS) which commenced in 2015. Natural England shared our corporate target of removing 25% of the scheduled monuments on the 2010 Register by 2015, which was achieved with 35% being removed. We also continue to work closely with the Heritage Lottery Fund to identify the nationally important monuments deserving of grant-aid for enhanced conservation, presentation and access projects.

Loss and damage as a consequence of arable cultivation remains the greatest source of risk to scheduled monuments on the Register. The Conservation of Scheduled Monuments in Cultivation (COSMIC) project will provide updated risk assessments for all sites affected by arable cultivation on the Register. It provides bespoke prescriptions for reducing the risks from cultivation damage. In some cases, the COSMIC mitigation recommendations have already been acted upon by our local teams, resulting in over 130 entries being removed from the 2014 Register.

Analysis of entries on the Register shows that prehistoric barrows are one of the most ‘at risk’ types of archaeological site on the Register. Unmanaged woodland, tree, scrub and bracken growth remains one of the most widespread causes of long-term damage to both urban and rural archaeological sites - even if the effects are not as visible or as immediately destructive as other processes. In most cases simple, low cost but regular maintenance is the key. The delivery of this will always be reliant upon the help and goodwill of landowners.

PARKS AND GARDENS

Although a statutory list, the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest in England in itself brings no additional statutory powers, instead it is used in the development control process to provide a valuable tool for the protection of the sites it includes. The Government's National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) stresses the desirability of sustaining and enhancing the significance of all heritage assets and finding viable uses consistent with their conservation.

The NPPF states that great weight must be given to the conservation of sites included on the Register of Historic Parks and Gardens of Special Historic Interest and that substantial harm or loss of such features can only be justified in exceptional cases.

A great many historic parks and gardens are either privately owned or held in trust. In addition, local authorities are responsible for nearly all the public parks and cemeteries in our towns and cities. Registered parks and gardens are typically large, complex heritage assets, many of them in multiple ownership. It can take years to identify and implement proposals to improve their condition and trajectory. To help reduce the risks, Historic England encourages and works with owners to develop conservation management strategies. Landscape architects working in our Heritage at Risk teams can help tailor conservation management plans and funding packages.
for individual landscape features or whole sites. We work with partners, such as Natural England and the Heritage Lottery Fund, to help source funding to secure sustainable futures for parks and gardens at risk.

BATTLEFIELDS

As with registered parks and gardens, the Register of Historic Battlefields brings no additional statutory controls to registered battlefields, but the National Planning Policy Framework makes it clear that registered battlefields are of equal significance to scheduled monuments, buildings listed grade I and II*, registered parks and gardens and protected wreck sites. Therefore, the positive conservation and management of registered battlefields is a core element of current heritage legislation.

Historic England continues to work with owners to develop management plans for registered battlefields and, in appropriate cases, contribute towards the cost of management plans. We work to develop positive landscape strategies with owners and partners such as Defra through Environmental Stewardship schemes. In some circumstances, we may encourage the conversion from arable to pasture of especially sensitive locations to protect battlefield archaeology from the effects of ploughing and as part of a wider drive to prevent unauthorised or damaging metal detecting.

Historic England also continues to encourage greater access to battlefields and the improvement of their amenity value and visitors’ understanding of the impact these dramatic historic events had on our development as a nation.

Local authorities can also invite comments from the Battlefields Trust on planning applications affecting the setting of registered battlefield sites.

WRECK SITES

At the strategic level, the major sources of risk to protected wreck sites have been identified. In terms of high priority sites, practical requirements have also been implemented through conservation management plans and appropriate intervention.

Risks to protected historic wreck sites can often be reduced through education, provision of marker buoys, or planning policies that take full account of their national importance. However, some sites require significant resources to stabilise their condition or to carry out detailed archaeological assessments of their conservation requirements. Although Historic England has statutory power to allocate funds to promote the preservation and maintenance of protected wreck sites, its financial resources can solve only a small proportion of the problems.

In spite of the inherent difficulties with caring for this type of site, careful management must be maintained if we are to avoid the loss of wreck sites. It is therefore close cooperation between the owners of protected wreck sites (where known), authorised divers and all organisations charged with care for the marine and coastal environment, that will make the real difference to their long term survival.

Practical advice on the management of historic wreck sites, whether at the coast edge or under water, is available from Historic England.

CONSERVATION AREAS

The reasons conservation areas become at risk are difficult to address as they can cover large areas of land; they include streets, spaces, archaeology and trees as well as buildings and structures and therefore involve many different owners and approaches to management. Looking after conservation areas is a responsibility shared by those of us who live, work or do business in them as well as those of us whose job it is to manage them or make decisions about their future.

Local authorities complete the Conservation Areas Survey, providing us with an understanding of what is particularly affecting the character and appearance of conservation areas, what is working well or what is putting them at risk. Strong planning policies, guidance and a clear management strategy for individual conservation areas, backed up by effective enforcement, are all critical in managing change in these areas. Local authorities across the country continue to see their resources reduced, and this is making their task more difficult to deliver. Armed with the information provided by conservation area surveys, we, local authorities and other partners will have the evidence to direct resources much more accurately towards those conservation areas at greatest risk.

There are opportunities for members of the local community to get involved with protecting and enhancing their conservation area, either individually or through groups. Some local groups have helped to prepare character appraisals and management plans for conservation areas whilst others have carried out their own assessments to identify management issues.
Key statistics

BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES

- Nationally, 3.9% of grade I and II* listed buildings (excluding places of worship) are on the Register. In Yorkshire the percentage is 6.1% (97 listed secular buildings).

Key to the entries

This Register includes the following risk assessment types:
- Building or structure (grade I and II* listed buildings and structural scheduled monuments)
- Place of worship (grade I, II* and II listed buildings)
- Archaeology (scheduled monuments – earthworks and buried archaeology)
- Park and garden (Registered parks and gardens)
- Battlefield (Registered battlefields)
- Conservation area (Conservation areas)

ORDER
Entries are grouped and ordered alphabetically, first by County† (dark grey bands) or Unitary Authority (light grey bands), and then by Local Planning Authority (National Park/Unitary Authority/District or Borough).

A blank band denotes the end of a county and the beginning of a unitary authority.

Sites that straddle more than one local planning authority are included under the lead authority.

†The metropolitan counties of South Yorkshire and West Yorkshire are used to group the data. North Yorkshire is the only two tier planning authority in the region.

Within each planning authority, entries are grouped by risk assessment type in the following order:
- Buildings or structures
- Places of worship
- Archaeology
- Parks and gardens
- Battlefields
- Conservation areas

Within each risk assessment type, entries are ordered alphabetically by parish, locality and street/site name (except for conservation areas which are ordered by site name only).

DESIGNATION
The principal designation is noted for each entry and includes:
- Listed Building (LB) grade I or II*
- Listed Place of Worship grade I, II* or II
- Scheduled Monument (SM)
- Registered Park and Garden (RPG) grade I, II* or II
- Registered Battlefield
- Conservation Area (CA)

Other designations that apply to the designated site, including location within a World Heritage Site (WHS), are also noted.

If an entry is dual designated (both listed and scheduled), ‘and’ rather than a comma is used (eg ‘Scheduled Monument and Listed Building grade I’). If a scheduled monument entry is dual designated with a number of listed buildings, each is separated by a semicolon.

The National Heritage List Entry Number is included for all entries (except conservation areas). If a site is dual designated, all relevant List Entry Numbers are noted.

CONDITION
For buildings (including places of worship), condition is graded as: ‘very bad’, ‘poor’, ‘fair’ and ‘good’.

For sites that cover areas (scheduled monuments (archaeology assessments), parks and gardens and battlefields) one overall condition category is recorded. The category may relate only to the part of the site or monument that is at risk and not the whole site:
- extensive significant problems
- generally unsatisfactory with major localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with significant localised problems
- generally satisfactory but with minor localised problems
- optimal
- unknown (noted for a number of scheduled monuments that are below-ground and where their condition cannot be established).

For conservation areas, condition is categorised as: ‘very bad’, ‘poor’, ‘fair’ and ‘optimal’.

If a site has suffered from heritage crime it is noted in the summary. Heritage crime is defined as any offence which harms the heritage asset or its setting and includes arson, graffiti, lead theft and vandalism.

OCCUPANCY/USE
For buildings (excluding places of worship) that can be occupied or have a use, the main vulnerability is vacancy or under-use. Occupancy (or use) is noted as follows:
- vacant
- part occupied
- occupied
- unknown
- not applicable
VULNERABILITY
Principal vulnerability is noted for archaeology assessments and may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk, and include:

• animal burrowing
• arable ploughing
• coastal erosion
• collapse
• deterioration – in need of management
• scrub/tree growth
• visitor erosion

For parks and gardens, battlefields and conservation areas, vulnerability is noted as high, medium or low.

PRIORITY CATEGORY
Priority for action is assessed on a scale of A to F, where ‘A’ is the highest priority for a site which is deteriorating rapidly with no solution to secure its future, and ‘F’ is the lowest priority.

For buildings and structures and places of worship the following priority categories are used as an indication of trend and as a means of prioritising action:

A Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; no solution agreed
B Immediate risk of further rapid deterioration or loss of fabric; solution agreed but not yet implemented
C Slow decay; no solution agreed
D Slow decay; solution agreed but not yet implemented
E Under repair or in fair to good repair, but no user identified; or under threat of vacancy with no obvious new user (applicable only to buildings capable of beneficial use)
F Repair scheme in progress and (where applicable) end use or user identified; or functionally redundant buildings with new use agreed but not yet implemented.

For battlefields, the following priority categories are used as a means of prioritising action:

A No action/strategy identified or agreed (where trend is declining or unknown)
B Action/strategy agreed but not yet implemented (where trend is declining or unknown)
C No action/strategy identified or agreed (where trend is stable or improving)
D Action/strategy agreed but not yet implemented (where trend is stable or improving)
E Monitoring as appropriate (any trend)
F Action implemented/strategy underway/scheme in progress (any trend)

2014 priority categories are given in brackets, otherwise ‘New entry’ is noted.

‘New entry – re-assessed’ indicates an existing site on the Register that has been re-assessed using a different risk assessment methodology and is included on this year’s Register under the new assessment type.

TREND
Trend for archaeology entries, parks and gardens and battlefields may relate only to the part of the site that is at risk and is categorised as:

• declining
• stable
• improving
• unknown

For conservation areas trend is categorised as:

• deteriorating
• deteriorating significantly
• no significant change
• improving
• improving significantly
• unknown

OWNERSHIP
A principal ownership category is given for each entry, and if sites are in divided ownership, a ‘multiple’ ownership category is noted.

CONTACT
This is the member of the Historic England local team who acts as a first point of contact for the case, and to whom enquiries should be addressed.

For conservation areas, the contact is the conservation/planning officer at the relevant local planning authority (indicated by ‘LPA’).

We are not in any sense agents for the owners of the sites included, but we will endeavour to put people in touch with them where appropriate.

There were originally five of these hoists, which were peculiar to Goole; this is the last remaining example. Refurbishment works were carried out in the late 1990s but the condition of the structure has since deteriorated. A rope access survey has been commissioned by the owner to assess condition.

Ice production works dating from 1900-1910 with later additions and alterations. The Ice Factory served the Grimsby fishing fleet, facilitating its development and international renown during the C20. The Factory closed in 1990. It is thought that this is the earliest surviving ice factory in Britain, and the sole survivor from this period to retain its machinery. The loss of roof coverings and the security of openings are of particular concern. The interior, including extensive wooden floors and machinery, has been exposed to increasing levels of weather damage and bird infestation.

This is a large town church with a very substantial three-stage tower from the C13. Various public footpaths pass through the churchyard, including one at the foot of the tower. The stonework to the tower is eroded especially at the higher and exposed levels. There is a risk of frost damage and water ingress to the walls. Some of the shafts to the paired bell openings surrounds have fractured. There are missing protective hood moulds and string courses. Pigeon guano deposited in the tower gutters is blocking proper water disposal. Heritage Lottery Fund grant will fund repairs in 2015-16.

C19 mill, including disused waterwheel (1861), pit and enclosing building. The mill-wheel, which is scheduled, is the largest in England and is in poor condition. The mill roofs are deteriorating. The base of the stack is also in need of remedial work. Discussions are underway with the owner to find a solution for the whole complex. The condition of the chimney, wheel and mill building have been assessed in detail.

Mid C19 terraced gardens which provide the setting for a country house, surrounded by parkland which was enlarged in the 1720s and reworked in the 1770s. C20 woodland planting has significantly changed the character of the historic landscape and a number of listed structures are in poor condition.

Mid C18 pleasure grounds laid out with advice from John Carr as the grounds for a country house built within a pre-existing park of C16 origin. Painted by JMW Turner in 1798. Landscape designed around an artificial lake contained by dam, probably designed by John Carr. Lake surrounded by picturesque sandstone outcrops frequently surmounted by trees. Progressive siting of lake and regeneration of trees and shrubs is severely compromising the historic views within the site and the relationships of planting, rocks and lake. A Natural England Higher Level Stewardship agreement is in place.

Gardens and extensive pleasure grounds with grottos, rustic bridges and rockwork laid out between 1796 and 1820 under the direction of Adam Mickle the second and others for Sir William Danby, incorporating lakes and landscaping of c1760. The park probably has C17 or earlier origins. A significant proportion of the tree cover has reached maturity and beyond, some structures are in poor condition and water bodies in Quarry Gill woods are heavily silted.

Thomas Earl of Lancaster's 1322 revolt against Edward II ended with defeat as his army attempted to retreat north and cross the River Ure. Much of the battlefield lies under modern Boroughbridge; further expansion is possible north of the river. Boroughbridge battlefield site has been included in a piece of strategic research to understand the impact of development in urban areas on historic battlefield sites. The aim is to produce a piece of planning guidance for the protection of battlefields.

C14 castle. Parts of two vaulted chambers remain. A scheme to convert the adjacent gatehouse into holiday accommodation has been developed. If the project goes ahead the undercroft will be repaired as part of the scheme.

Contact: Giles Proctor 01904 601981

Shell remains of a late C14 gatehouse, which was altered in the C16. Conversion to holiday accommodation, including reroofing, has been explored.

Garden temple in the Palladian style, attributed to Sir Thomas Robinson and probably built in the early 1730s. It is situated at the south end of the East Terrace to Duncombe Park. The column shafts are badly decayed and internal plasterwork in poor repair. A repair scheme is in progress, supported by grant from Natural England.

Former priory, C12-C13. Little of the standing structure survives except for part of the precinct wall and part of the south wall of the priory church, which has been incorporated into a cottage and barn. The masonry is cracking and bulging in places and the barn roof is in very poor repair. Historic England grant has been offered towards project development.

Gardens, pleasure grounds and park with a mixture of geometric and less formal features developed c1698-1738 by Charles Howard, third Earl of Carlisle and Sir John Vanbrugh (1664-1726) possibly with some advice from Stephen Switzer (1682-1745). Key buildings and structures in the landscape are in need of consolidation and repair; trees have been lost from sections of the grand approach avenues and are in need of replacement. A management plan for the Avenues has been prepared as part of a Natural England Environmental Stewardship Agreement.

HERITAGE AT RISK 2015 / YORKSHIRE / SELBY / YORKSHIRE DALES (NP)

SITE NAME: Henry Simpson’s Barn, Appletreewick, Craven
Barn built in 1737 for Lord Burlington. Of a high level of embellishment and craftsmanship, unusual for the date. The roof was partly stripped in 1995 and the roof timbers are consequently in poor condition.

SITE NAME: Barden Church, Barden, Craven
C16 former chapel. The interior is derelict and there is some water penetration and damage, despite past repairs to the roof. Historic England grant has been offered for project development and tenders have been received. Repairs are hoped to commence in late 2015.

SITE NAME: Lodge Hall, Ingman Lodge Road, Selside, Horton in Ribblesdale, Craven
Farmhouse dated 1687. Structural cracks to main (east) front and bulge on north side. Roof leaks badly with attendant decay. Integral part of a working farm. Programme of works agreed with National Park but not yet implemented.

C17 manor house with alterations in 1750-56 by James Paine. Built of magnesian limestone ashlar under a stone slate roof. The house has been vacant for some years and is in poor condition.

Small derelict gate lodge to spinning, water, steam and flax mill of 1836 to 1840 designed by Bonomi in the Egyptian style. Walls stable, but lacks a roof.

Mid C18 gate piers constructed from sandstone and magnesian limestone which comprise a pair of large inner piers with scrolled consoles and short screen walls which ramp down to a pair of lower outer piers. Masonry is in poor condition with areas of extensive erosion, displacement and partial collapse. Repair is proposed as part of a wider scheme for the repair and conversion of Ledston Hall.

Country house now partly subdivided into flats, situated in late C17 to C18 walled gardens with terraces to south and west, grass terraces to the east and an early C18 park to the north. Five periods of building starting in c1200 with chapel and kitchen. Landscape condition is generally fair to good. A conservation plan and strategic plan have been completed for the estate. A programme of priority repairs has been identified and consents have been obtained for a sensitive conversion scheme.

An exceptionally rare example of an early C18 arcaded cloth hall, built in 1711. The building is derelict and deteriorating, the west wing was subjected to emergency demolition in 2010. Part of generally dilapidated block along Kirkgate that is the focus of a Heritage Lottery Fund Townscape Heritage Initiative programme. Project development work funded by Historic England and Leeds City Council to identify a sustainable new use and specify a scheme of repair is nearing completion.

Construction of the original Rawdon Chapel began c1647 and it was consecrated in 1684. The present three-stage west tower was added in 1706. In c1864 the original chapel, with the exception of the tower, was substantially replaced and enlarged. A choir vestry was added in 1908 and extended in 1980. The tower roof and masonry are in poor condition and weathering details at gables and roof abutments are defective, allowing water to penetrate the fabric of the building. Built in the Early English style to designs by RD Chantrell, this mid-C19 church was constructed on land conveyed by the local mine owner and local miners reputedly contributed a week’s earnings or a week’s unpaid labour to help with its construction. It survives much as originally built with the exception of the spire, which was taken down in 1939 due to subsidence. The west gable wall is in poor structural condition, masonry and roofs are also in poor condition. Heritage Lottery Fund project development funding has been offered under the Grants for Places of Worship scheme.
